China aims to foster international cooperation in the greener economy.

Agroforestry Group (AFG), one of the world's leading private forestry and agriculture management companies, has joined the Guangzhou Association of Foreign Investment Enterprises (GZAEFI). GZAEFI's acceptance of Agroforestry Group now places it alongside companies such as McDonald's, Procter & Gamble and Shell on the Fortune Global 500. For Agroforestry Group, this is an important strategic step that will enhance its local development in China as well as foster international cooperation in the greener economy.

"The demand from Chinese customers for high quality, scarce, and sustainable forestry and agricultural assets is experiencing explosive growth," emphasizedÂ Li Zhen, Agroforestry Group's ChinaÂ Partner and General Manager. "Joining the Guangzhou Association of Foreign Investment Enterprises will accelerate our access to theÂ *dynamic economic hub*Â of theÂ GuangdongÂ -Â Hong KongÂ - Macao Greater Bay Area, and deepen brand synergy and market development with top global multinational institutions."

Guangzhou Association of Foreign Investment Enterprises was established in November 1987 with the approval of the municipal government. Among the association's members are several Fortune Global 500 companies and multinationals from a variety of industries, including financial services, manufacturing, fast-moving consumer goods, food and beverage, and electronics.

Going forward, Agroforestry Group (AFG) will take further steps to deepen its network domestically acrossÂ China. Its membership in theÂ GZAEFI is just the beginning as it explores additional business opportunities inÂ ChinaÂ by collaborating with local partners and other multinational corporations.

Agroforestry Group is one of the world's leading private forestry and agriculture management companies. Agroforestry Group have applied their thirty years of private forestry management experience into the establishment and commercial development of durian and agarwood plantations, product distribution and sales. Agricultural and forestry have grown rapidly as an asset class in recent years, attracted by the green credentials of the industry and the long-term high returns of agroforestry.
