AgroSpectrum ASIA
Envisaging Future | Updating Present

MHP and American Global Strategies partner to strengthen global expansion and food security

31 March 2025 | News

MHP exporting products to over 80 countries and overseeing 360,000 hectares of farmland across 12 regions inÂ Ukraine

MHP exporting products to over 80 countries and overseeing 360,000 hectares of farmland across 12 regions inÂ Ukraine

MHP, a leading international food and agri company, is strengthening its global strategy by partnering with American Global Strategies (AGS), a U.S. consulting firm led by former National Security Advisor Robert O'Brien. The goal of this collaboration is to reinforce food security in the international market.

In times of geopolitical uncertainty, the expertise and strategic insights of AGS will be instrumental in strengthening MHP's global standing and expanding its export potential. It will not only benefit MHP, but also contribute to regional food security by ensuring stable and resilient supply chains.

Integrated into global markets and enhancing food security worldwide, this collaboration marks a milestone in MHP's transformation into an international food and culinary company. With 25 years of leadership in the food industry, MHP has grown into a global powerhouse, exporting products to over 80 countries and overseeing 360,000 hectares of farmland across 12 regions inÂ Ukraine. The company employs 36,000 people and operates across agriculture, food production, and retail, with production facilities inÂ UkraineÂ andÂ Southeast Europe, as well as subsidiaries inÂ the Netherlands, the UK, the UAE,Â Saudi Arabia, and EU countries.

American Global Strategies (AGS) is a strategic consulting firm specializing in geopolitical risk assessment, international business strategy, defense, and security consulting. Founded byÂ Robert C. O'Brien, former U.S. National Security Advisor, AGS helps businesses, governments, and organizations navigate complex global challenges, ensuring resilient operations and sustainable growth.

With deep expertise in international affairs, defense policy, and economic strategy, AGS advises clients across key sectors, including aerospace, defense, technology, energy, and finance. The firm's insights and strategic guidance help companies to expand their global footprint, mitigate risks, and enhance their competitive edge in an increasingly volatile world.

AGS's leadership team includes former senior U.S. government officials and military experts, bringing decades of experience in foreign policy, national security, and international trade. Through tailored advisory services, AGS empowers its partners to thrive in today's evolving global landscape.