AgroSpectrum ASIA
Envisaging Future | Updating Present

China-Africa Cooperation ushers in new era of agricultural modernization in Africa

20 May 2025 | News

As China-Africa agricultural collaboration strengthens, an increasing number of Chinese-supported projects are flourishing across the continent, enhancing food security and driving the modernization of African agriculture

As China-Africa agricultural collaboration strengthens, an increasing number of Chinese-supported projects are flourishing across the continent, enhancing food security and driving the modernization of African agriculture

Within the frameworks of the Forum on China-Africa Cooperation and the Belt and Road Initiative, China-Africa agricultural collaboration has achieved significant progress in recent years.

Through the transfer of technology, infrastructure development, equipment upgrades, and the expansion of industrial chains, China has greatly enhanced Africa's agricultural productivity and its capacity for sustainable development, providing a powerful boost to the continent's modernization efforts.

Looking ahead, China remains committed to fully executing its plan to support Africa's agricultural modernization. This includes addressing development challenges and fostering innovative partnerships, with the goal of extending the benefits of modernization and ushering in a new era of China-Africa agricultural cooperation.